We ask – elephants or koalas?

“Both! Koalas are so gorgeous and appealing, but I love painting elephants – their skin has the most amazing texture. I have been charged by an elephant while painting in India – it was a very frightening experience – but left me full of respect for the sheer size and power of these remarkable animals. Elephants have a life span that is the most comparable to our own in the animal world, and they are incredibly intelligent creatures. They even mourn their dead as we do.”
